

Chief Leslee White-Eye to reflect on Truth and Reconciliation report recommendations during King's Hour presentation

January 19, 2016

London, ON- The newly-elected Chief of Chippewas on the Thames First Nation, Leslee White-Eye, will bring insights on Canada's Truth and Reconciliation report recommendations during King's Hour at 3:30 p.m. on January 20, 2016. The speaker series is open to all and is held in the Joanne and Peter Kenny Theatre, Darryl J. King Student Life Centre, 266 Epworth Ave., London, Ontario.

"The presentation represents a significant event in the life of our College. The welcoming of this distinguished community leader marks the beginning of an important dialogue with our indigenous brothers and sisters that will shape our campus community for many years to come," says Dr. David Sylvester, King's Principal

King's Hour is:

- A series of culturally and academically engaging events of common interest to the entire King's community (students, faculty, staff, and alumni)
- Lectures, discussions or performances on relevant and timely issues of importance to our community and society as a whole
- A conversation that will begin in the Kenny Theatre and continue into the classroom and beyond
- Follow on Twitter: @Kings_Hour
- For more information, please see the King's Hour website.

All King's Hour events start at 3:30 p.m. and will end promptly at 4:20 p.m. including a question and answer period, to allow students and faculty time to get to their 4:30pm classes.

Media: parking in lot 1 on north side of Epworth Ave.

For more information please contact:

Jane Antoniak
Manager, Communications & Media Relations
King's University College
communications@kings.uwo.ca
519-433-3491 x 4384
519-719-9366
@kingsatwestern
www.kings.uwo.ca