

GLOBALIZATION AND CITIZENSHIP SJPS 3210G

ABOUT SJPS 3210G

This course examines the impact of globalization on local communities and explores questions of global justice and citizenship.

Topics covered:

- Land and water rights in rural communities
- Human trafficking, migration and citizenship
- Transnational mining & environmental impacts
- Tourism
- Commercial Free Trade Zones
- Colonial legacies and the history of resistance movements in the Dominican Republic (DR)

This course includes an 8-day international experiential component. Students will travel to the DR with instructors and visit communities engaged in activism and resistance against exploitation.

Financial aid is available for King's Students. For more information, please contact Dr. Allyson Larkin (alarkin2@uwo.ca) or Klaire Gain (kgain4@uwo.ca) for more information. Students from other disciplines are welcome to apply for special permission to take this course.

Globalization and Citizenship

Winter Term, 2020

Fridays, 1:30- 4:30 pm

Instructors:

Dr. Allyson Larkin (alarkin2@uwo.ca)

Klaire Gain (kgain4@uwo.ca)

Tom Malleson (tmalleso@uwo.ca)

Travel to the Dominican Republic,
Reading Week, 2020

ABOUT SJPS

Social Justice and Peace Studies is an interdisciplinary academic program committed to experiential education and inspired by the Catholic Social Teaching tradition. It encourages critical reflection on oppression and injustice, locally and globally, and it examines theoretical and practical approaches to justice and peace. It calls students to social action that transforms the world in the interests of human dignity, equality, sustainability, and peace.