FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE – April 3, 2014

London, ON – King's University College Chamber Choir will perform their concert, Canadian Choralscapes: Songs of our home and native land, on Saturday, April 5th, 7:30 p.m. in the Joanne & Peter Kenny Theatre, Darryl J. King Student Life Centre. Directed by conductor Janet Loo, the songs chosen will speak to the beauty of our Canadian landscape and heritage, from west to east, with selections by Patriquin, Somers, Healey, Chatman, Freedman, Sirett, and more.

In collaboration with Thames Valley District School Board and London Multicultural Community Association, this year's spring concert will raise funds for the LMCA scholarship program that allows immigrant high school students to pursue their academic and extracurricular plans. The scholarship will be given to students based on the high school principal's recommendation.

Now in their fourth season, the King's Chamber Choir performs choral works in a variety of styles and genres. It is a group comprised of King's and Western students, King's alumni, King's administration, and members from the community. The choir is dedicated to reaching out to the community by donating the proceeds of their performances to designated charitable organizations.
