Job Shadow Program

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

This program allows students to spend one to two days, during either fall or spring reading week, shadowing a professional in the community. You learn about your field of interest, workplace culture, and develop professional network-building skills.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Gain self-confidence while working within a professional environment
- Gain experience and awareness of workplace cultures and norms as well as the ability to demonstrate effective, professional relationship management skills
- Build your professional networks within London and surrounding communities

WHEN?

This opportunity is available over both the fall and spring reading weeks. You may choose two consecutive days within one of the reading weeks that work best for you.

CONNECTION TO KING'S PROMISE

Participating in this program satisfies the work-integrated learning requirement for the King's Promise program. If you are not already in the King's Promise program but are interested in joining, see the back of this brochure for where to apply.

PARTNERSHIPS

You will work with one of our community partners in a position that relates to your field of study and your professional interests.

WHO CAN PARTICIPATE?

This opportunity is only available to students enrolled at King's.

FAQS

Will I get to job shadow in my field of interest?

Students and employers are matched, based on the student's interests and field of study.

How much does participation in the program cost?

This program is free of charge for students. However, parking and travel costs may apply depending on your placement organization's location and policies.

Are there any prerequisites to participate in this program?

Students must complete the online Career Decision Making module through CompleteStudent prior to starting their Job Shadow placement. For module requirements go to www.completestudent.ca/modules/ca-reer-fundamentals/
