Now I appeal to you, brothers and sisters, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that all of you be in agreement and that there be no divisions among you, but that you be united in the same mind and the same purpose.

1 Corinthians 1:10

There is no such thing as a single-issue struggle, because we do not live single-issue lives.

Audre Lorde

Lord, teach us the definition of self-sacrificial love. May we learn to carry our brothers’ and sisters’ burdens in love and with grace.

The art of Quranic recitation remains the fountain from which flows the major themes of art in the Islamic tradition. An introspection of how Muslims recite their Holy Book sheds light into how they understand chanting and its role in expressing beauty and building harmony with the Divine, fellow creatures and the universe. This lecture examines how Quranic melodies contrast with various classical and modern understandings of music.

Qutaiba Albluwi, PhD is an instructor of Quranic recitations and Islamic law. He holds a PhD in Digital Forensics from the University of Rhode Island, USA and M.Sc in Computer Science from Queens University. Born in Mecca, Saudi Arabia he has lived in UAE, Malaysia, USA and moved last year to Canada. He served as a member of the University of Rhode Island Chaplains Association and as an Imam of the Muslim Community Center of Kingston, RI. He works in academic teaching, education consultancy and IT security research. He is a student of Islamic spirituality and offers services in the areas of nonviolence training and multifaith dialogue.

As we now turn our minds to Ordinary Time, we cannot forget that Lent is just around the corner. Traditionally, the ashes that are used for Ash Wednesday are from the charred remains of the palms from the year before. Please bring in your old palms over the next few weeks. There will be a box at the back of the chapel to receive them. We will then burn the palms and ready the ashes for distribution. Thank you for your assistance.

Development and Peace – Caritas Canada celebrates the creation of an ombudsperson for mining and other sectors.

Development and Peace – Caritas Canada welcomed the announcement by the Canadian government to create a human rights ombudsperson to oversee Canadian mining, oil and gas operations around the world after ten years of campaigning on this issue. Since 2006, its campaigns for greater accountability in the Canadian extractives sector have garnered the support of 500,000 Canadians. “This announcement has been a longtime coming and we are happy to see that the government is respecting its electoral promise and restoring Canada’s role as a leader in defending human rights worldwide,” said Serge Langlois, Executive Director of Development and Peace, after the Honourable Minister of International Trade François-Philippe Champagne made the announcement. Congratulations to everyone who supported A VOICE FOR JUSTICE CAMPAIGN in 2013!
