As with every other event of Christ’s life, the Resurrection is a mystery, and therefore we can never adequately understand it. Many Christians who say, “I cannot believe in the Resurrection any more,” are really saying, “I can no longer accept the infantile notion of the Resurrection, which once I could accept without difficulty,” and what they fear may be a loss of faith is very often an invitation to grow into a more adult faith.

Because resurrection is a mystery, therefore God alone can teach us what it means and lead us into this truth in which we are living, moving and have our being.
