Jesus didn’t mean just love those who fit into our idea of lovable—He meant those who are broken; those who are scared; those who no one else will touch.

Jesus meant love them all.
We don’t get to pick and choose.

VERITAS SERIES FOR FAITH AND CULTURE

Dr. Catherine Clifford
Not as Guests, but as Full Participants in Social and Ecclesial Life: Perspectives on Women in the Church Today
THURSDAY, MARCH 21, 2019, 7:30 PM, VITALI LOUNGE
FREE / ACCESSIBLE

Pope Francis maintains there is a need today for a “more widespread and incisive female presence” in the various settings of the church where important decisions are made. Beginning from the presence of lay and religious women at the Second Vatican Council, this talk will consider the many ways that women are actively contributing to the life of the Catholic Church today in often unacknowledged ways. How might their gifts be more fully received into the structure of the church?

Dr. Catherine E. Clifford is Professor of Systematic and Historical Theology in the Faculty of Theology, Saint Paul University, and founding director of the Research Center on Vatican II and 21st-Century Catholicism. She holds a PhD in Theology from the University of St. Michael's College, Toronto, and a Licentiate in Theology from the University of Fribourg, Switzerland. Her teaching and research are focused in the areas of ecclesiology, ecumenism, and the history of Vatican II. Her recent publications include Decoding Vatican II: Interpretation on Ongoing Reception (Paulist, 2014), and Keys to the Council: Unlocking the Teaching of Vatican II (Liturgical Press, 2012), co-authored with Richard R. Gaillardetz.
