Room Assignments

King's offers both single (limited number) and double rooms. Room assignments are based on the preferences and lifestyle information you provide on your residence application. You can request a specific roommate or housemate, too. We know the idea of living with a new roommate may make some students a little nervous. Residence staff are here to support you in that relationship. We facilitate a roommate agreement process shortly after move-in to help you and your roommate discuss some key aspects of shared living. While the majority of residents enjoy a good living arrangement with their roommates, sometimes problems arise. Residence staff are here to help.

Developing skills to live successfully with others is a good investment in your future. Living in a supportive residence environment with a roommate or housemate is a good way to build those skills.

A Community of Leaders

King's Residence is committed to fostering a community where learning is prioritized. You will see this commitment in:

- residence amenities that students need
- community standards that support sleep and study
- residence programs that support learning and growth both inside and outside the classroom

Residence Application Guide 2024

A place to be.
A place to become.

Your home at KING'S

Residence is a great way to meet people and feel connected.

Residence is guaranteed to all applicants who submit a complete application and deposit by June 3, 2024. A parent or guardian is required to co-sign the Residence Agreement (contract) for applicants under 18 years of age.

Access to the online residence application system is included in your academic offer package.

King's residence is committed to the values of diversity, respect and academic achievement. Our goal is to create a safe, welcoming and accepting community where all persons, cultures and differences are acknowledged and valued.

Residence Life

A great way to begin your King's experience.

Research shows that living in residence has a positive influence on first-year students.

Each year, King's Residence gets top marks from students in satisfaction surveys, thanks, in part, to the dedication and enthusiasm of the King's residence staff. We strive to make your home away from home as enjoyable as possible.

Residence Assistants

The Residence Assistant (RA) in each residence unit is a vital resource in helping you make a successful transition to university life. RAs offer support and guidance, share information about campus resources, and monitor residence standards and guidelines.

Things to talk about before September

Preparing for residence life is important for students and their families. Consider the following as you work together to get ready for this life transition.

- What are your academic expectations? Are there learning skills areas that you may need to improve to be successful?
- Is there a need for life-skill development in some areas? (laundry, basic cooking, banking, time management, etc.)
- What transitional issues might you or your family members face? How will those issues be resolved or supported?
- Is everyone clear about the financial aspects of this transition - anticipated costs, access to financial assistance programs (OSAP, bursaries, scholarships, work study programs), payment deadlines and payment plans, access to emergency funds, and credit history implications?
- Do you have the necessary home insurance and health coverage updates in place? Residents are advised to insure their personal property. King's does not provide this individual coverage.

Residence Curriculum

King's Residence takes a curricular approach to residence life programming and development. We are dedicated to providing a meaningful learning experience outside the classroom. Our goal is to provide experiences to help you become more connected to the King's community, in residence and beyond, and to provide inspiration for life-long learning. These learning experiences are centered on five main pillars:

- Academic and career success
- Community connections
- Health and wellness
- Inclusion and global perspectives
- Self-development

The transition to university is an exciting time filled with new opportunities.

Sometimes challenges arise and students may need help meeting these challenges. Residence and Campus Life staff are the first people to see if a residence difficulty comes up. Seeking help promptly is the key to quick resolution!
