Debates surrounding such concepts as sustainable development will also be emphasized.

Antirequisites: none

Unless you have either the requisites for this course or written special permission from your Dean to enroll in it, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. This decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites.

Textbook:

Paul Robbins, John Hintz and Sarah Moore. 2014. Environment and Society: A Critical Introduction. Second Edition. Wiley Blackwell.

Note: we are using the 2nd edition and not the 1st! There are differences!

Occasionally I may post particularly relevant readings on my website.

Course Requirements (details follow):

(i) Attendance/Participation (10%)

(ii) Mid-term test (30%)

(iii) Essay Requirement (30%)

(iv) Final exam (30%)

Attendance/Participation (10%):

The attendance/participation grade will be based on the following: 5% for attendance and 5% for class participation. Students who have full attendance will receive 5%; however, the other 5% will be allocated on the basis of their participation in class discussion. Students who do not participate in discussions and show little sign of reading required course materials prior to class should expect to receive "0" out of 5% for this component. Unavoidable absences from class should be explained to your professor if you want to maintain your "attendance/participation" grade.

Mid-term test (30%):

The mid-term test will comprise of both multiple choice and short essay questions (2 hours). All content from required readings and course lectures are fair game in this test. The multiple choice questions may be drawn from the required readings. By short essay questions, I am referring to questions that can be answered in a couple of paragraphs. The essay questions will come straight from the course lectures (so attendance is very important).

Essay Requirement (30%):

One essay assignments is required in this course (due on the last day of class). This essay will require that you critically summarize an assigned issue and answer specific questions relating to the course content. These assignments should be roughly 8 pages long (4000 words), not including tables and references). Please use a word count to verify your paper length.

Details of these assignments and the specific issue choices will be made available on my website and discussed in class well in advance of the assignment due dates.

An electronic copy of the essay must be submitted to Turnitin.com for plagiarism checking. Instructions on how to make these submissions will be included in your assignment outline.

In submitting all assignments to your instructor, no faxed or electronic copies will be accepted, The written portions of both assignments must be typed, double-spaced, on 8 ½ X 11 paper, stapled (no paper clips or plastic coverings or binders), and handed in personally in class.

No assignments are to be handed in at the Faculty Secretaries office (they do not accept them). Late assignments can be delivered to me personally during office, lecture or consulting hours (or merely slipped under my office door).

In the interest of fairness for all students, the essay is due at the beginning of class of the final lecture of this term. Assignments received after the due date will have their grade reduced by a rate of 5% daily. No papers will be accepted more than one week (7 days) after the due date. Please see each assignment outline for details (forthcoming).

Final exam (30%):

The final exam will occur during the university's normal examination period. This will again comprise of both multiple choice and short essay questions (3 hours). All content from required readings and course lectures are fair game in this test, although significantly greater weight will be given to material covered in the second half of the course.

ELECTRONICS USE -

Please don't use your hand-held devices during lectures for any reason.

I'm fine with other computer use in the classroom in most circumstances. However, please don't use social media, play games, surf the web etc. during lecture time! A student who is found to be breaking these rules will be asked to stop and may be asked to leave since this can be very distracting to both the instructor and (perhaps more importantly) other students. If I observe this happening in class, I guarantee that I'll reduce your participation grade.

Statement on Use of Electronic Devices

Use of Electronic Devices

You are not allowed to have a cell phone, or any other electronic device, with you during tests or examinations.

Use of Laptops, Tablets, and Smartphones in the Classroom

King's University College at Western University acknowledges the integration of new technologies and learning methods into the curriculum. The use of electronic devices – such as laptop computers, tablets, or smartphones – can contribute to student engagement and effective learning. At the same time, King's recognizes that instructors and students share jointly the responsibility to establish and maintain a respectful classroom environment conducive to learning.

The use of electronic devices by students during lectures, seminars, labs, etc., shall be for matters related to the course at hand only. Students found to be using electronic devices for purposes not directly related to the class may be subject to sanctions under the Student Code of Conduct; see <https://www.kings.uwo.ca/current-students/student-affairs/code-of-student-conduct1/>

Inappropriate use of electronics (e.g., laptops, tablets, smartphones) during lectures, seminars, labs, etc., creates a significant disruption. As a consequence, instructors may choose to limit the use of electronic devices in these settings. In addition, in order to provide a safe classroom environment, students are strongly advised to operate laptops with batteries rather than power cords.

Statement on Academic Offences

King's is committed to Academic Integrity.

Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, is posted at http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf

All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system; see <http://elearningtoolkit.uwo.ca/terms/plagiarism.html>

Computer-marked multiple-choice tests and/or exams may be subject to submission for similarity review by software that will check for unusual coincidences in answer patterns that may indicate cheating.

Copyright re: Course Material

Lectures and course materials, including PowerPoint presentations, tests, outlines, and similar materials are protected by copyright. Faculty members are the exclusive owner of copyright in those materials they create. Students may take notes and make copies for their own use. Students may not allow others to reproduce or distribute lecture notes and course materials publicly (whether or not a fee is charged) without the express written consent of a faculty member. Similarly, students own copyright in their own original papers and exam essays. If a faculty member is interested in posting a student's answers or papers on the course web site he/she should ask for the student's written permission.
